

Garfield Lemonius, is a graduate of York University with bachelor of fine arts in dance and bachelor of education degrees; Mr. Lemonius also holds his master of fine arts in dance (choreographic theory and practice) from Southern Methodist University.

Mr. Lemonius' career adventure includes performing as a principal dancer with the Dallas Black Dance Theatre touring to Europe, across the U.S. and Canada, the film Blues Brothers 2000, the Canadian Armed Forces Show Tour to Bosnia/Croatia, solo performances in Vienna, Austria, as well as performing as a guest artist with other companies across the U.S., Canada and Europe. He has worked with many renowned choreographers, served on numerous boards including The Booker T. Washington High School for the Performing Arts curriculum development and leadership committees, the North Texas Dance Council, served on panels at the annual International Association of Blacks in Dance Conference and is currently a member of the advisory board for the Pittsburgh Dance Council.

He has also taught at numerous festivals, high schools and universities across the US, Canada, and Australia and is currently an assistant professor of dance at Point Park University. He continues to teach and choreograph as a guest artist across the U.S., Canada and Australia.